

Senior Risk Manager for Large Reinvestments for the Copenhagen Metro

Do you have extensive experience in risk management? Are you structured, pragmatic, and strong in quantitative, model-based risk work? If so, you could be the Senior Risk Manager we are looking for – to help shape the future of public transport in the capital region.

The role

As Senior Risk Manager, you will be instrumental in developing and implementing risk management concepts across major construction projects, including the M4 extension, new M5 line, and upgrades of M1/M2.

You'll drive the risk process from early concept to execution – covering design, procurement, insurance, and contractor engagement. You will join the Secretariat and Risk Unit and collaborate closely with colleagues in Team Risk to align practices and share knowledge.

Key responsibilities

- Subject matter expert in complex infrastructure projects
- Apply a broad risk toolbox across all project phases in line with ISO 31000
- Develop and maintain cost-risk-benefit models
- Ensure alignment between project risks and Enterprise Risk Management (ERM)
- Drive a culture of risk awareness and mentor junior team members

About you

- Structured and able to balance theory with practical value
- Strong quantitative mindset and experienced in model-based risk analysis
- Confident switching between strategic advice and technical deep dives
- Communicates clearly – both verbally and in writing
- Results-driven with a strong sense of ownership

Your qualifications

- MSc or PhD in a quantitative field
- 10+ years' experience in risk management, preferably in construction or infrastructure
- Solid experience with tactical risk management and quantitative tools
- Skilled collaborator across disciplines – finance, legal, engineering, etc.
- Comfortable leading or mentoring junior analysts and collaborating across disciplines

What we offer

- A challenging and impactful role in a strong professional environment
- High degree of influence and room to shape your work
- Salary based on qualifications and flexible employment terms
- Great colleagues and a supportive team culture

About us

Copenhagen Metro transports over 6 million passengers annually and leads some of Denmark's largest construction projects. We're committed to improving public transport and developing a modern, sustainable capital.
